

POINTS TO PONDER

- The church has limited its influence in our generation, but God is building us, and grace is abounding in every area, including the area of healing.
- If you will give God your empty space, He will turn it into a holy place.
- The church would have to pass away in order for healing to pass away.
- As long as there is a body of Christ, there is going to be healing and supernatural works accomplishing the will of God.
- Jesus is the head; we're the body, and we are all He has. There is not another body of Christ. We are it.
- God uses ordinary people who simply make themselves available to God's ability to work through them.
- The church is a supernatural family gathering together. It grows through the edifying of itself in love, but it doesn't happen without being joined and knit together by what every joint supplies.
- We need to start helping and caring for one another, start getting aggressive towards bondage, sickness and disease. We need to stop being okay with sickness in those to whom we are connected.
- Love gets involved, love cares, and love steps up.
- We're not waiting for healing to manifest; God's waiting for us to simply release what has already been given to us as the church, and let that healing be made manifest.
- Wherever we go, healing goes, and the power of God goes.
- We should be experiencing miracles, healings, and signs and wonders everyday as we walk with Jesus.
